

Oh, Hello third grade!

Welcome!

My name is Stephanie Giumenta and I am excited to announce that I am your third-grade teacher this year! I am so happy that you are in my class! This is my fifth-year teaching at Mill Creek Academy and my fourth-year teaching third grade! I graduated with my Bachelors in Elementary Education K-6 at the University of North Florida in 2014 (swoop!). My husband and I love to travel. This summer we visited Canada, Alaska and New York City! I have a weakness when it comes to Diet Coke and you will often see me with one in hand!

I believe that communication between parent and teacher is one of the most important aspects in a successful classroom. You should expect to see a planner in your child's backpack every day with important dates and homework for completion. Your child will also bring home a weekly folder with graded papers and forms from the office and/or PTA. Please check these things carefully and reinforce a prompt return of these items. Weekly newsletters will ensure your participation in our classroom.

This year our theme is Leading the Charge! I am so excited to be a partner in your education. Together we will become better readers, writers, mathematicians, scientists and explorers! Please feel free to contact me at any time! I am looking forward to an exciting year!

Go Mighty Mustangs!
