This Week's News

Reading News: This week we are working on nonfiction text features. This includes diagrams, captions, sidebars, photographs, etc. We are also working on verbs in grammar. We are adding 5 more vocabulary words: assemble, grumble, calculate, elegant, and privilege. These words go along with last week's words: fragile, defend, research, specific, and pledge. We are looking at definition, synonyms, and antonyms to better understand use of these words.

Math News: In math we are starting our unit on multiplication and division. We are still working on strategies to help us solve these problems. We are also going to focus on breaking apart word problems to figure out if they are multiplication or division word problems.

Science and Social Studies News: In science we are going to be learning about plants. This includes the structures of a plant and why they are important. In Social studies we are working on map skills and parts of a map. This includes map symbols, legend or key, latitude and longitude, and the compass rose.
