

Weekly Newsletter: February 4-8, 2019

Third quarter progress reports come out this week- the third quarter is flying by! Please make sure you are checking HAC regularly, and keeping up with homework and additional learning opportunities such as reflex and IXL. Thank you for all you do- please don't hesitate to reach out if you have any questions or concerns.

This Week We Are Learning

ELA: Firsthand v Secondhand accounts

This week we will wrap up our learning of firsthand and secondhand accounts. We will be starting writing homework soon, I want to go through a couple of samples with students prior to them starting it on their own.

Math: Multiplying Fractions

Our math unit on multiplying fractions will be tested on Wednesday, 2/6. A study guide was sent home on Friday for students to work on. Additional IXLs to use for practice are S1-S12. Our next unit of study is on decimals and will start on Thursday.

Science: STEM Fair Projects

STEM fair projects were due February 1. Students will be presenting their boards in class this week and VRA will host its annual STEM Night on February 11 from 5:30-6:30 ☺

Social Studies: The Seminole Wars DBQ
